SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 11.—Senator Robert M. La Foilette was offered, and refused, assurance that if he would throw his support to Colonel Roosevelt in the campaign for the Republican presidential nomination. Roosevelt in turn would name La Foilette as his successor, according to Gilbert E. Roe of New York, La Foilette's former law partner, who spoke here tonight on "The True Story of the Desertion of La Foilette."

Mr. Roe did not mention Colonel Roosevelt in his account of the affair.

Jones said he gave Judge Archbald half of his commission because the latter had favored him in indorsing the note which figures in the testimony as the note which W. P. Boland and his brother, who brought the charges against the judge, refused to discount.

Williams Confused.

Much conflicting testimony was given, Edward J. Williams contradicting himself frequently and getting the records so confused that he is to be re called next week, when W. P. Boland will take the stand. Boland expressed confidence that he would be able to straighten out the tangle in the testimony thus far taken.

about an assignment contract executed last September with W. P. Boland of Seranton, in which Judge Archbatt was referred to as a "silent party." First denying that he over signed such a contract, then admitting that he did, but asserting a copy of the contract before the committee was not the one he signed, and finally declaring he had no good recollection about it, Williams was bombarded by questions. He contradicted himself repeatedly.

Testimony Confusing.

So confusing was the testimony that Williams was finally asked if he thoroughly understood English and he said be thought he did, although long questions sometimes bothered him.
"Where were you born?" asked Representative Graham of Illinois.
"In South Wales," said Williams.
"How old are you?"
"Seventy-two years old."
"How long have you been in this country?"

The committee then submitted to him a series of photographic copies of papers in evidence containing his signature. Williams admitted that the signatures were his, but declared he could not remember having signed them.

Contract Produced.

Contract Produced.

W. P. Boland of Scranton produced before the committee the original assignment contract containing his name and that of the 'silent party,' which was said today referred to Judge Archhald. When shown this Williams said he did not remember ever signing the contract, but he admitted his signature. Last February Williams told the attorney general that he had signed such an assignment contract, but today he declared he was so excited when summoned before the attorney general that he was "like a wild man" and said many things he had no recollection of.

Williams also contradicted statements he previously had made to Assistant Attorney General Wrisley Brown about the case. Representative Webb read from the stenographic record of Williams' examination by Brown last March. In this Williams said that when he went to see Captain May of the Eric railroad to negotiate an option on the cuim banks he told Captain May that Archhald was to have an interest in the option.

"Dot you tell May that?" asked Mr. Webb.

"No, sir, I never told him that."

"If I did, I was mistaken. That is wrong. I'm pretty sure I never told Mr. May that the judge was interested."
"You also told Mr. Brown," Mr. Webb continued, "that Judge Archbald told you to tell May that he was to have an interest in the option. How about that?"
"Judge Archbald never told me to tell May that." Williams answered.
"If I told Brown that, I was mistaken."
Counsel for Judge Archbald sought to establish that W. P. Boland, who made the charge against the jurist, had set a trap for Judge Archbald and had sent Williams to the jurist to procure letters of introduction to railroad officials and others. Williams said that Boland did first suggest that he first go to Judge Archbald and get the letter of introduction to Captain W. A. May of the Eric raliroad, but declared he never suspected Boland was trying to trap the judge.

Captain May, who had been summoned, arrived at the committee room about noon and at Attorney Worthinston's request produced a letter written by Judge Archbald asking about the Eric culm property. This letter was written March 31. When shown the letter Williams said he did not recognize that as the letter Judge Archrecognize that as the letter Judge Archbald had given him to take Captain May.

Commissioner Meyer said he went to the president with the charges, and the president, in his presence, wrote a letter to the attorney general directing an investigation.

Refused to Take Note.

Charles W. Gunster, cashier of the Merchants & Mechanics bank of Scran-ton, testified as to the refusal of his bank to discount the $500 note of Judge Arch-bald to John Henry Jones. Asked why he did not discount the note, Gunster re-piled.

"I did not care to discount it."

G. H. Vonsterch, president of the Providence National bank of Scranton, testified that the $500 note was taken by his bank in December, 1909. He said John Henry Jones presented it and that he called upon Judge Archbald about it. The judge told him the note was all right. The note had been renewed every three months since December, 1909, Mr. Vonsterch said. It was made out in the name of John Henry Jones, payable to Judge Archbald, and indorsed by Judge Archbald and Edward J. Williams.

"No, he was not originally." said Jones; "he got on that note afterward through some ulterior motive, I think. I had intended to discount the note myself at a bank that I did business with, but a fallure prevented.

"Then Williams came to me and told me that the Boland Brothers wanted to discount the note as a favor to Judge Archbald. I gave the note to him and three days later I ordered Williams to get it back. When he brought it back Williams's name was on the note. He told me that the Bolands had made him indorse it."

"Why was it you made the note to Judge Archbald?"

"Because I thought that was the surer way to get the note discounted," said Jones. "It was the usual way of making notes."

In this transaction, Jones said he agreed to give Judge Archbald $250 for favors he had extended him, "What favors?"

Why Jones Divided.

"Well, for one thing, he had given me that note in the Venezuelan deal."

"I thought that was given for an interest in the timber option," suggested Mr. Webb.

"No, he did not." said Jones. "He gave me that note as a favor."

"Well, did you put through the culm deals and give the judge his share of interest."

"The party who paid the $500 commission on the culm deat," said Jones, "gave it in a note. I gave the note to Judge Archbaid and he gave me $250. The note is not due yet. The judge still has it."

Before Jones was excused for the day he consented to give the committee in private the names of the persons in Scranton who are interested with him in the Venezuela timber project. The committee will decide by Monday what to do with those names.

New of Indiana, in charge of the arrangements for the convention, and William Loan of Maryland, sergeant-atarms, are expected here Tuesday.

Members of the national committee expect they will be called upon to pass upon nearly 200 contests between June 6 and the opening of the convention June 18. It is believed the rules adopted four years ago will be effective this year. The rules allowed both sides thirty minutes in the case of contests over delegates at large and fifteen minutes for district contests. With this rule in operation the committee will be obliged to work practically all day and night to conclude its work before the opening of the convention.

Of the battle on the desert plains, 400 miles south of here along the line of the Mexican Central railroad, few details are at hand tonight. SURE WAY TO CURE CONSTIPATION

Many apparently simple things are difficult of perfection, and only those who have suffered long from constipation know how hard it is to find a genuine cure. But it can be had. No matter how discouraging your experiences have been in the past, promise yourself to make another attempt at a cure. This time try DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN. There must be genuine merit to a remedy that thousands indorse as a positive cure for constipation, and thousands in all parts of the country are indorsing DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN. One gentleman as old as 87 asserts he has had no relief until he took this remedy. Buy a bottle of it yourself and see what it will do for you. You know by this time that salts, cathartic pills or powders, waters whether manufactured or natural, will at best only do temperary good. So why not try a scientific preparation? DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN is scientifically compounded. It is designed to act mildly and gradually so that in time all medicines can be dispensed with and nature will again do its work. It is a tonic laxative and has a strengthening effect on the stomach and bowels. You will feel better in every way for taking it, and you will get the permanent relief that you have so long sought. This is not an idle assertion, but is based on the experienles of thousands of people who, in the quarter of a century that this remedy has been compounded, have valuntarily written the facts to Dr. Caldwell. It is the best remedy obtainable for constipation and all stomach, liver and bowel troubles. Because of its pleasant taste, mildness and freedom from griping it is also the laxative best suited to the needs of children.

I received your sample bottle of Syrup Fepsin and used it. It helped me so much that I bought a for bottle and have used it. It is the only thing that helps me. I have inherited stomach trouble and have suffered with it a greater part of my life.
